Hello Ed -

I am trying to track down where the proposal went after I drafted the authorization memo for Tallahassee OGC – typically they want to have a final sign off.

However, I discussed it with Kelley Boatwright, and we agree that the project is tentatively approved and can proceed, at least for the initial service. If Tallahassee does not have any concerns, we will send you a formal acceptance letter. Any interim costs will count towards your penalty offset.

Hello Beth. The system at McKay Bay needs attention. Have you all approved our plan? If not formally approved, then has it reached an informal acceptance by you all. We'd like to help the Port Authority out.

Ed Kinley

Hi Chris,

Have your guys gone out to the water goat yet to clean it? I am asking because Chris Pratt emailed to let me know he stopped by to see the water goat at McKay Bay and it was detached from the one side. What I would like to do is have the guy who makes the water goats to give your group on how to do it. Let me know your thoughts. Thanks

Chris

Yours in Service,
Debbie

Lean it.

Hi Steve,

As we discussed at your last briefing, we are working with Keep Tampa Bay Beautiful on their Trash Free Waters Partnership. We are adopting a “Water Goat” in upper McKay Bay which will trip tons of debris per year that is currently flowing into the Port area and Tampa Bay.

Also, yesterday I spoke with Debbie Evenson, Executive Director of KTBB, and she confirmed that they are planning another major clean up along the (your) shoreline of Harbor Island. I will keep you posted.

Lastly, I am working on a special clean-up event in the Port called the "Great Port Clean-up." I hope that this will become an annual event where the entire Port community helps with a major coastal clean-up.

Sincerely,

Christopher J. Cooley
