Sorry that I have taken so long to answer you.

An Odor Management Plan was submitted for the facility. We have not commented on it yet. We do know we will be requesting some additional actions. Gloria DePradine told me that during February and March no one complained to her about odors. But at the end of March a neighbor of Friends C&D calls to tell that odors were bad during the entire month of March. Friends C&D does keep a log for complaints. They also drive around the facility to determine if odors are leaving the facility.

The groundwater results overall are looking better. However, recent sampling events do have some detected parameters that need to be track3d closely. Right now, we have not required Friends C&D to do any additional ground water monitoring.

Hi Tom,

Can you advise if an Odor Management Plan was ever developed for Friends landfill? Also what about the groundwater impacts, are there still concerns?

Thanks,

Skip – sorry for the delay in my response. There are no permit violations for Friends Recycling at this time. There have been odor complaints within the past 2 months. We are reviewing a proposed Odor Management Plan. We have had concerns about the possibility of groundwater impacts.

Hello Tom,

Just wanted to verify that there are currently no permit violations for Friends Recycling.

Thanks,

Skip attached is a drawing of Friends Recycling. The permitted cells are 1 and 2, bounded by the solid line. Expansion into parts of cell 2 that are not yet in use will not require a liner because they were permitted for C&D waste disposal prior to July 1, 2010.

The stormwater retention area I mentioned is that notch in the northwest portion of the property.

As I mentioned during our conversation, a "Materials Recovery Facility" is a solid waste facility that requires a permit. A "recovered materials facility" where recovered materials are processed is not a solid waste facility. It requires registration under 62-722, but it does not require a permit under 62-701.
