IN CASE OF SPILL

Most persons carrying steel drums are trained to not breathe in any fumes, avoid contact with the liquid, and wear appropriate protective clothing. Approved to prevent any spillage of oil or other liquids, these drums are made of steel and have a double-walled construction. They are also designed to prevent leakage in the event of a leak. For more information, contact your local fire department.

FRANKLIN AND GORTON

HAND AND ARM BYSTANDER
The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was a strong, warm hand on my shoulder. I turned to see a man in a dark jacket, his face lit with a friendly smile. He was the first person to greet me, and his touch was a comforting reminder of the support I had been given. The rest of the trip was a blur of activity, with people moving quickly and efficiently. I was the only one who seemed to be taking a moment to pause and breathe. The rest of the trip was a blur of activity, with people moving quickly and efficiently.
