CELL SW-1

WEST PASCO CLASS I LANDFILL

PASCO COUNTY, FLORIDA

1 0 INTRODUCTION

The West Pasco Class I Landfill is located in northwest Pasco County on Hayes Road, approximately 2½ miles north of State Road 52 in Spring Hill, Florida. The landfill is located on a large tract of land owned by Pasco County which also includes the Resource Recovery Facility, located in the southern portion of the property south of the landfill, and the West Pasco Class III landfill, located in the western portion of the site. The Resource Recovery Facility, a solid waste incinerator, and the Class I Landfill are operated under the Florida Department of Environmental Protection (FDEP) Site Certification No. PA87-23.

The West Pasco Class I Landfill is designed for a total of 16 ten-acre cells. Currently, three cells have been constructed (Plate 1). Cells A-1 and A-2 are used for the disposal of ash produced from the combustion of municipal solid waste at the Resource Recovery Facility. Solid waste that can not be combusted in the Resource Recovery Facility is stored in cell SW-1. Waste is removed from the cell when incineration capacity is available. Initially, the County planned to store waste in cell SW-1 only on a temporary basis, however, the cell is currently being used for the permanent storage of solid waste.

All three cells are constructed with a double liner system consisting of an upper and lower 60-mil geomembrane separated by two feet of sand. A primary leachate collection and removal system is constructed above the upper geomembrane. A secondary system is constructed to collect and remove leachate from the interval between the two liners.

A Ground Water Monitoring Plan (GWMP) is currently in effect for the entire 160-acre landfill. This GWMP includes monitoring wells located around the boundary of the entire site as well as specific compliance monitoring wells located downgradient of cells A-1 and A-2, in accordance with Rule 62-701.510, Florida Administrative Code (F.A.C.). The FDEP did not require the installation of compliance monitor wells at cell SW-1 due to the temporary storage of solid waste in this cell; however, since the County is now storing solid waste in the cell permanently, the site GWMP must be modified so Rule 62-701.510 F.A.C. requirements are implemented at cell SW-1.

The following sections of this document present a summary of the hydrogeologic features at the site and present the proposed ground water monitoring for cell SW-1. This plan is submitted to satisfy the requirements for a Ground Water Monitoring Corrective Action Plan contained in consent Order #99-1346.

2.0 SITE CONDITIONS

The conditions at the site have been described in detail in the documents submitted to the FDEP during the site certification process. Information pertinent to the site conditions at cell SW-1, however, has been retrieved and summarized in the following

2.1 SOILS

The predominant surficial soil type in the vicinity of cell SW-1, as classified by the U S Department of Agriculture, Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), is Candler fine sand, 0 to 5% slopes, although small areas of Tavares sand, 0 to 5% slopes, and Sparr fine sand, 0 to 5% slopes, are located in the immediate area of the cell (USDA, 1982). The NRCS soils delineations in the vicinity of cell SW-1 are shown on Plate 2.

Tavares sand and Candler fine sand are described by the NRCS as nearly level to gently sloping, moderately drained (Tavares) to excessively drained (Candler) soils. Both soils consist of fine sand to a depth of greater than 80 inches. The permeability of both soils is rapid to very rapid.

Sparr fine sand is a nearly level to gently sloping, somewhat poorly drained soil on seasonally wet uplands. The soil consists of a fine sand to a depth of approximately 42 inches and is a sandy clay loam to a depth of about 80 inches. Permeability is moderate to rapid.

2.2 TOPOGRAPHY

The West Pasco Class I Landfill is located in a relatively flat section of the Pamlico Terrace of the Gulf Coastal Lowlands physiographic province. The original ground surface elevation in the vicinity of cell SW-1 is on the order of +50 feet NGVD with less than 10 feet of topographic relief in the area around the cell (Plate 3).

The area is drained primarily by Buckhorn Creek and the Pithachascotee River. No lakes occur within the northern portion of the landfill where cell SW-1 exists. A stormwater retention pond is located northeast and east of the cell (Plate 4).

2.3 REGIONAL HYDROGEOLOGIC FRAMEWORK

Geology

The principal formations in Pasco County are a series of limestones and dolostones mantled by relatively thin sand and clay deposits. The surficial sands and clays are undifferentiated with more clayey soils located in the lower portion of the deposits. These clays are generally considered to be remnants or a residual of the Hawthorn and Tampa Formations. The Hawthorn Formation, which is generally composed of clays, sand and dolosilt, is relatively thin in the eastern part of the county and may be absent in some areas, particularly in the northern part of Pasco County.

Where present, the uppermost limestone in northwest Pasco County is the Tampa Limestone, or in areas where not present, the Suwannee Limestone. Most domestic and many irrigation wells produce from the lower portion of the Suwannee Limestone. The Ocala Group and the Avon Park Formation are composed of limestone and dolostone with dolostone becoming more prevailing with depth. Most large production wells produce from the lower Ocala Group and/or dolostone of the Avon Park Formation.

Aquifer Systems

Two distinct water-bearing geologic units, or aquifer systems, capable of supplying economical quantities of water to wells, occur in the western portion of Pasco County. The uppermost of the two is the surficial aquifer system, comprised of the permeable portions of the unconsolidated deposits overlying the limestones. The limestone formations form the deeper Upper Floridan aquifer, an artesian, but sometimes unconfined aquifer system which underlies most of central Florida.

The surficial aquifer system is described to be relatively thin in western Pasco County and may be absent or discontinuous in some areas. The surficial aquifer system in western Pasco County is seldom used for a water supply source primarily because the Upper Floridan aquifer supplies greater quantities of higher quality water to wells.

The top of the Upper Floridan aquifer system in Pasco County is represented by either the Miocene Tampa Limestone or where absent, the Oligocene Suwannee Limestone. The top of the Upper Floridan aquifer occurs at an altitude of near mean sea level (msl) in northwest Pasco County. The aquifer becomes progressively more deeply buried beneath the surficial clastic deposits in a southward and eastward direction.

The Suwannee Limestone is a very permeable, productive zone of the Upper Floridan aquifer. Most domestic and many irrigation wells produce from the lower part of the Suwannee Limestone. The Ocala Group is highly permeable over much of the area and yields large quantities of water to wells. The underlying Avon Park Formation contains a fractured, cavernous zone near the top which yields large quantities of water to wells.

Based on available publications, the transmissivity of the Upper Floridan aquifer in the vicinity of the site is highly variable, varying from about 40,000 to 130,000 ft²/day (SWFWMD, 1996). The natural leakance rate through the semi-confining clayey unit in this area of Pasco County varies from about 5×10^{-3} to 5×10^{-4} /day.

Ground water flow in the Upper Floridan aquifer system in the vicinity of the site moves generally west to northwest toward the Gulf of Mexico from the "Pasco High" centered in the eastern part of the county. The Pasco High represents an area of highest altitude of the potentiometric surface of the Upper Floridan aquifer (Plate 5).

2.4 SITE HYDROGEOLOGY

Numerous soil borings were drilled by Jammal & Associates for the original application for Site Certification (PCBCC, 1987). These soil borings included several under and in the near vicinity of cell SW-1 as shown on Plate 4. The logs of these borings are shown on Plate 6.

The conditions encountered in the soil borings correspond to the regional geologic description. In the vicinity of cell SW-3, subsurface soils consist of a surficial fine sand of varying thickness, ranging from 2 feet in the approximate center of the cell (boring C+13-35) to almost 25 feet near the southern edge of the cell (boring C-15+45). The depth to limestone was also highly variable ranging from 12 feet (boring B+400-20) to 43 feet (boring B+150-13+35) in the near vicinity of cell SW-1. Despite these variations, no direct connection between the surficial sands and the underlying limestone was identified in the vicinity of SW-1 since a sandy clay to clay layer was present between the two units in all the borings drilled (Plate 6)

Permeability tests were performed by Jammal & Associates on undisturbed samples of the clayey soil layer and presented in the application for site certification. One of these tests was performed on a sample from boring C+400-20 at a depth of approximately 13 feet bgs. The vertical permeability for this sample was 4.8×10^{-8} centimeters per sec (cm/sec) as shown on the boring log for this boring (Plate 6). Other clayey soil samples collected in the vicinity of cell SW-1 had vertical permeabilities of 3.4×10^{-4} cm/sec to 2.9×10^{-8} cm/sec. Over the entire landfill site, Jammal & Associates reported that the average vertical permeability of the clayey soil unit was on the order of 7.2×10^{-5} cm/sec. Vertical hydraulic conductivities performed on samples of a light green sandy clay collected by Law Engineering & Environmental Services, Inc. under the footprint of ash cell A-2 varied from 2.2×10^{-6} feet per day (fpd) to 6.9×10^{-6} fpd (over 1×10^{-10} cm/sec). These samples were taken at depths from 7 to 23 feet bgs. This data is contained in information submitted to the FDEP for the permit to construct cell A-2.

Numerous monitor wells have been installed at the site, both as part of the overall ground water monitoring plan for the landfill and for the individual ash cells. The locations of these monitor wells are shown on Plate 8. A summary of the well constructions is presented in Table 1.

Ground water elevations measured in the monitor wells during 1999 and February 2000 are presented in Table 2. Ground water contour maps developed from this data are presented on Plates 9 and 10. As can be seen, the local direction of ground water flow beneath the study area is generally towards the northwest. Additional ground water contour maps are presented in Appendix A showing similar ground water flow directions in January and July 1998, although ground water elevations are on the order of 5 to 9 feet higher during 1998.

The hydraulic gradient across cell SW-1 in July 1999 was approximately 0.0015 feet per foot. The hydraulic gradient in January 2000 was similar, approximately 0.0014 feet per foot. OK

A table of ground water elevations for the period March 1995 through July 1998 is also presented in Appendix A. This table indicates that the ground water elevation in the vicinity of cell SW-1, as indicated by monitor well 4MW-4, has varied by as much as 10 feet. In addition, Table 2 and the table of historic ground water elevations in Appendix A show that the shallower wells (those identified as 2MW-#) are historically dry, with the exception of well 2MW-2. These monitor wells range in depth from 8 to 30 feet bgs. Only in well 2MW-2, which is 34.5 feet in depth, have ground water levels been routinely recorded.

Based on the ground water elevation data, the ground water surface is typically more than 15 to 25 feet below the ground surface at the site of cell SW-1, corresponding to an elevation of approximately +25 to +35 feet. This depth puts the ground water surface within the limestone or overlying clayey units at the site of cell SW-1. Due to the location of the ground water table and the higher permeability of the limestone unit, the ground water flow in the upper fine sands appears to be minimal, with the primary ground water flow regime being in the lower lying limestone unit at the site. ✓

2.5 WELL INVENTORY

An inventory of the permits issued by the Southwest Florida Water Management District (SWFWMD) for domestic/residential, public supply, industrial, agricultural and irrigation purposes was requested from SWFWMD within a one-mile radius of cell SW-1. This information is provided by Sections which are generally one square mile in area. The Sections requested, Sections 13, 14, 23, 24, 25, and 26, Township 24 South, Range 17 East, and Sections 18, 19, and 30, Township 24 South, Range 18 East, lie within some part of the one mile radius. The computer printout presenting this well inventory is contained in Appendix B.

3.0 PROPOSED GROUND WATER MONITORING PLAN

3.1 PROPOSED WELL LOCATION

Two monitor wells are proposed to be installed to monitor ground water downgradient of cell SW-1. These wells will be located at the northwest corner of the cell and approximately 500 feet east of the northwest corner of the cell as shown on Plate 11. The well along the northern edge of cell SW-1 will be located approximately 100 feet from the edge of the cell because of a stormwater swale located immediately adjacent to and north of the cell. The side slopes of the swale, which coincide with the outside slope of the cell, are too steep to allow the installation of the well. This monitor well will be located adjacent to the roadway which parallels the northern edge of the cell. The second monitor well, located on the western side of the cell, will be located within 50 feet of the cell, in accordance with Rule 62-701 510(3), Florida Administrative Code (F A C). Existing well 4MW-6, located hydraulically upgradient of cell SW-1 (Plate 11), will be used as the background water quality well. Other wells monitored at the landfill site also provide background water quality information.

3.2 PROPOSED WELL CONSTRUCTION

Rule 62-701 510(3), F A C, requires that the well screen be located "to readily detect representative ground water conditions within the saturated thickness of the uppermost aquifer with the zone of discharge." At this site, the uppermost aquifer is within the upper portion of the limestone, except where sand deposits extend to depths of 25 feet or more. As discussed in Section 2.5, the ground water surface is encountered within the limestone or clayey soils overlying the limestone, at depths of 15 to 25 feet bgs. Since the clayey soils are unlikely to produce water, the bottom of the wells will be located within the first limestone unit encountered during drilling, unless saturated sands are encountered during the drilling of the wells.

The proposed monitor wells will be constructed of 2-inch diameter flush-jointed and threaded Schedule 40 PVC casing and screen and will be installed utilizing hollow-stem auger drilling techniques. Due to the large fluctuation in ground water levels in the vicinity of cell SW-1 (see section 2.5), each well will have 15 feet of screen slotted with 0.010 inch slots. The annular space around the well screen will be filled with 20/30 gradation sand from the bottom of the screen to approximately one to two feet above the top of the screen. A fine sand seal, approximately one foot thick, will be placed on top of the sand pack and the remainder of the annulus will be filled with neat cement grout to ground surface. Since the well north of cell SW-1 will be located on the edge of the access road, this well will be completed at ground surface with an 8-inch diameter manhole set in a concrete pad. The monitor well located at the northwest corner of the cell will be completed with a locking above-ground steel well casing set in a concrete pad. A diagram of the proposed well construction is shown on Plate 12.

After installation, the wells will be developed by pumping and surging. Development will continue until the discharge from the well is visually free of suspended sediment. The ground surface elevation and a reference point on top of the well casing will be surveyed by a surveyor licensed in the state of Florida. Well construction diagrams of the completed wells will be submitted to the FDEP for their files.

3.3 PROPOSED GROUND WATER SAMPLING

The two new monitor wells will be sampled semi-annually, at the same time that the other compliance wells for the Class I Landfill are sampled. These wells are typically sampled in January and July of each year. Each sample collected will be analyzed for the following parameters, in accordance with Rule 62-701 510(3), F.A.C. and the current Site Certification.

Field parameters	Static water level before purging
	Specific conductivity
	pH
	Temperature
	Dissolved oxygen
	Turbidity
	Colors and sheens (by observation)

Laboratory analyses	Total ammonia – N
	Chlorides
	Iron
	Mercury
	Nitrate
	Sodium
	Total dissolved solids

The results of the water quality analyses will be provided to the FDEP with the submittal of the sampling results from the other compliance wells
