Yesterday one of our crews was performing maintenance activities on a portion of the closed Phase I footprint and damaged the liner cover. We are currently in process of scheduling a company to repair the damage. It is anticipated that the repair will be made next week by Comanco Environmental Corporation. The size of the damage liner cover is approximately 2'x2'.

I will send a follow-up notification upon completion of the repair that will include a signed certification report for the repair by a professional engineer that is registered in the state of Florida.

If you have any questions, let me know.
