RE: Revised Emergency Response Plan
March 28, 1994

Dear Mr. Robinson:

I received your letter of request for additional review and comments on your Emergency Response Plan on April 8, 1994.

Section IV of your document indicates that permission has been secured from Allied Universal Chemical/Miami Tank to move the rail cars out of harms way with the use of a front end loader. It still needs to be identified if Florida East Coast Railway has been consulted regarding this procedure.

The second important consideration is to identify the possible contents of these rail cars, as different chemicals are present at different times. This task should be a priority and notification of this information should be dispatched immediately.

The revised Emergency Response Plan also includes the management of the water supply. A review of the Stipulation Order 93-895CA identifies and includes that a water supply and distribution system be designed and developed. The design and proposals shall be produced by a licensed engineer operating within their expertise.

As mentioned in my letter of March 24, 1994, the accessibility to all areas, the water supply, and exposure hazards are still a major concern.
