Introduction:

The Department of Environmental Protection ("Department") inspected Pippin (sic) Performance as a conditionally exempt small quantity generator operating at this address on March 20, 2003. At the time of the inspection, the facility was not operating in compliance with Department regulations, but returned to compliance after the inspection. On September 18, 2012, the Department conducted a site visit to determine the facility's generator status. Pippin's Performance is no longer operating at this location.

Process Description:

Pippin's Performance is no longer operating at this location. According to information in the Florida Division of Corporations database, the business was operating under a fictitious name, which expired on December 31, 2011. Information from the Pinellas County Property Appraiser's office indicates that the parcel was sold on November 8, 2010 to Gandy Property Investments, LLC. The 12, 590 square foot building was empty at the time of the inspection.

No potential violations or areas of concern were observed on the property during the inspection.

Conclusion:

This was a site visit to determine the facility's generator status. Pippin's Performance is no longer operating at this location.
